Art Unit: 1771

1. The text of those sections of Title 35, U.S. Code not included in this action can be found in a prior Office action.
2. The use of the trademarks as noted in Paragraph No. 1 of Paper No. 20060705 have been noted in this application. They should be capitalized wherever it appears and be accompanied by the generic terminology. The Examiner further notes again that applicant's specification nowhere appears to give a suitable definition or listing of suitable species for each of these marks. Applicants' Response (page 12) appears to overlook the fact that this is a straightforward disclosure requirement which should be complied with, whether or not some might consider the marks to be well known in the art.

Although the use of trademarks is permissible in patent applications, the proprietary nature of the marks should be respected and every effort made to prevent their use in any manner which might adversely affect their validity as trademarks.

3. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

4. The amendment filed November 13, 2006 is objected to under 35 U.S.C. 132(a) because it introduces new matter into the disclosure. 35 U.S.C. 132(a) states that no amendment shall introduce new matter into the disclosure of the invention. The added material which is not supported by the original disclosure is as follows: the addition to the second sentence of the paragraph beginning at page 23, line 16 of the phrase --the support or-- after "applied onto" appears to be new matter since no support has been pointed out by applicants and the Examiner has been unable to determine where such support exists.

Applicant is required to cancel the new matter in the reply to this Office Action.

5. Claims 1-12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. More particularly, applicants have traversed this rejection made in the initial Office Action (perhaps more accurately characterized as a 112, 1st paragraph rejection) with respect to the use of "on" found in every claim, which in a "comprising" claim permits additional layers to be between the layer(s) which is "on" another layer, and suggests the use of --directly on-- or equivalent terminology as its substitute.

6. Claims 1-7 and 9-11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Iijima '138, substantially for the reasons set forth in paragraph No. 5 of Paper No. 20060705, together with the following additional observations. More particularly, the Examiner first notes that he agrees with applicants that Tamai et al '399 is inferior to Iijima '138 and as such has been withdrawn. However, he remains unconvinced that the rejection has been overcome, first noting that applicants' contention (Response, page 12) that the reference is flawed because it does not disclose a calcining step is irrelevant for article claims 1-6, which contain no mention, either expressly or inherently, of this apparently critical process step and product-by-process limitation. With respect to article claims 7 and 9-11 the Examiner believes that these article claims also need a showing to prove that the calcining step recited therein produces a patentably distinct product from those formed by the reference. Additionally, the Examiner repeats his contention that in view of paragraph [0154] at least claims 1 and 4-7 need a showing to prove that the claimed adhesive mixture produces unexpected results from those single compositions set forth in the reference, as the Examiner also believes that to form the claimed acrylic monomer-silicone resin mixture after reading the reference and its teachings is within the skill of the art, and further note applicants' apparent inability to date to show unexpected results from their claimed mixtures. Note with respect to applicants' remarks (Response, page 11) that it is applicants, not the Examiner with his reliance on Iijima '138, who must prove unexpected results.

7. Method claims 8 and 11 are not rejected on the basis of adverse prior art.
8. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
